BARKLEY GETS GREAT OVATION

—THANK YOU AND GOODBYE—

Barkley's Fighting Speech Enraptures Demos As He Hits Ike And Republicans

Veep Reviews 20 Year Progress Under Both Roosevelt And Truman

By INEZ ROBB

CHICAGO (INS)—Vice President Alben Barkley told the Democratic Convention that Gen. Eisenhower's GOP "crusade" to save the American people is a Johnny-come-lately idea the Democrats have been practicing for 20 years—and will continue.

Barkley won a 25 minute ovation from the packed floor and galleries and then went on to enrapture his audience with a dramatic appeal for support of the party in the coming election.

They cheered him to the echo—the "old" man who bowed out of his own race for the nomination when labor leaders ruled they thought him over age at 74.

Barkley said: "I am not here as a candidate for any office, and some delegates cried 'no.'"

"I am here tonight as an American talking to a great party of Americans," he said.

Four years ago, Barkley recalled, he was keynote, and said then that "If we could get our lessons to the American people, give them the truth of our record and our program, they would respond in 1948 as they had responded for 16 years since 1932."

"I make the same prediction here tonight. They know as you and I know that truth will make the people free. They can be enslaved only by falsehood. It is our duty to tell the people that Democracy is charged with the responsibility of government... by every means... to bring that truth to them in all its nakedness and sheer austerity so that they shall know the record of the Democratic party under the Roosevelt and Harry Truman administrations of the last 20 years."

No Bounds
Barkley said the "yearning of the people is not bound by state borders." Democracy and freedom are not circumscribed by religious denominations, economic conditions, race, creed or color.

Barkley said that 99 per cent of the world's population yearn for liberty.

But he warned that the fundamental freedoms are meaningless "unless men have freedom of thought—the right to think."

"I believe the principles and policies of the Democratic party are the greatest... and if I did not believe that I would join some other party."

"The Republican nominee for President said he was going to lead a great crusade—a new crusade—by the Republican party."

First Time
"If he leads a crusade, or if the Republican party indulges in a crusade it will be new because they have never yet crusaded for anything that meant the welfare of the people."

"We are not beginning a crusade—we are continuing a crusade. We are continuing a crusade we began 20 years ago or more. A crusade to lift the American people from the depths of despair which had befallen them through inefficiency, ineptitude and mismanagement in the affairs of our nation."

Barkley said that he knows that the administrations of Roosevelt and Truman "have given the American people a greater share in the fruits of their labor than any other administrations in the history of the United States."

"I shall carry to my dying day the cherished liberties of that program, and fight for these."

Stanley Ross, assistant professor of history at the University of Nebraska, will begin his third trek "down south to Mexico" September 1st on a one year's grant to do historical research.

The history professor, as recipient of a grant from the Henry L. and Grace Doherty Charitable Foundation Inc. will study at Mexico City for nine months and Salsillo for the remaining three months.

His research work will be on Venustiano Carranza, a dominant figure in Mexican history from 1915-1920, who was president of the country from 1916 to 1920. The man will be studied in relation to the Mexican Revolution, Ross explained.

The University teacher has done research work in Mexico in 1947 and 1948 under a travel grant from the State Department and a fellowship from Columbia University.

He expects to have published by Columbia University a book which contains findings of his research during those two years of study.

Carpenters Going Back To One Firm

Local Independent And Union Sign Agreement

By ROY CAMPBELL

(Star Staff Writer)

Several Lincoln carpenters, members of Local 1055, will return to work Thursday morning following a negotiation session late Wednesday evening between the union and the Union Construction Company.

The Union Construction firm is the first independent local company to officially sign a contract with the carpenters since the union went on strike July 14 against the Associated General Contractors. In a statement, Gene Koons, vice president of the company, stated it "has always been the company policy to look with favor on union requests for reasonable wage scales and working conditions."

Earlier in the day, the carpenters local announced a contract had been signed with the Southern Company, Inc., a Tennessee corporation, which is scheduled to begin construction soon on phases of the reactivation of the Lincoln Air Base.

Retroactive Pay
In both cases of the companies signing the working agreements with the union, the contracts have contained the specific phases that have been rejected by the AGC. These included a beginning wage increase of 15 cents an hour with additional five cent raises every six months until a final wage of $2.42½ is reached—the same as is being paid Omaha carpenters.

The provisions included retroactive pay to the April 1 date when the original contract expired.

Bernard Gradwohl, union representative, stated that the meeting was "held on the friendliest of terms," and represented a step forward toward continued friendly labor-management relations in the Capital City.

Gradwohl said there have been several other independent contractors who have negotiated contracts with the union, but that their names are not yet available.

The contract agreed to between the Union company with the carpenters contains a provision for both parties to appeal to the wage Stabilization Board for a new contract should the Omaha carpenters' scale increase during the two-year duration of the local contract.

'Labor Our Partner'
In his statement to the local union, Michael Shea, president of the Southern Company, located in Kansas, said "This company is pro-labor and always has been. We feel labor is our partner and we have an old axiom which has been our policy, which is 'Share and Gain,' and it works."

Shea stated the company does a $3 million business a year. His company was the first outside company to sign a contract with the local carpenters, in anticipation of work to be done at the Air Base.

He came to talk about spiritual values of democracy.

And talk about them he did. Not from words on paper, as he put it, but from out of his heart.

Overlooking the vast Convention Hall from the guest box were Mrs. Barkley, his faithful secretary and Barkley's children. The warmth of the demonstration brought tears to the eyes of the women of the party.

It was the second great emotional pitch that has swept this convention in 24 hours, giving a color and a spirit that was not matched by its political rival.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt last night, and it was a trusted lieutenant in the Roosevelt and Truman administrations tonight.

We doubt seriously that anything the vice president said will have any appreciable effect upon the presidential nomination contest by the Democrats. The speech was more in the nature of a farewell.

Gov. Stevenson's rivals were busy all day undertaking to stop him, but he did seem to be holding the leading post. Something in the character of Stevenson seems to have captured this convention, and if the fire is put out it will be by Stevenson himself.

Veep Like Old Warrior In His 'Farewell' Speech

... Demo Meet Reaches 2nd Emotional Pitch

By J. E. LAWRENCE

(Editor, The Lincoln Star)

CHICAGO—Forty-eight hours after Alben Barkley had taken himself out of the Presidential race he returned to the wars and the greatest ovation that fellow Democrats ever tendered him.

If there was a suspicion that the Veep was nursing painful wounds as a result of opposition within the ranks of organized labor, it was quickly dispelled.

In a fighting speech, one of the greatest that a great Democratic warrior ever delivered, Barkley paid scant attention to his foes within his party, and devoted all of his energy to the Republicans.

He had been cheered as have few men before a convention audience. For 30 minutes the big auditorium was in an uproar.

Speaking only from notes, and with unusual fervor, Barkley said that he had not come to the convention as a candidate for any office upon him. Were he a candidate, he would not have appeared at the convention. He came not to speak as the Vice President, not as a delegate at large from the state of Kentucky, not even as a Democrat primarily, but as an American.

He came to talk about spiritual values of democracy.

And talk about them he did. Not from words on paper, as he put it, but from out of his heart.

Overlooking the vast Convention Hall from the guest box were Mrs. Barkley, his faithful secretary and Barkley's children. The warmth of the demonstration brought tears to the eyes of the women of the party.

Stevenson Bandwagon Waits Siding For Truman Go-Ahead

—Promise Of Peace—

Platform Promptly Adopted

Compromise Civil Rights Plank Acceptable To Both North And South

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (Thursday) (AP)—The Democrats adopted early today a campaign platform keyed to promises of "peace with honor," prosperity and progress.

By and large, the 6,000-word document is an endorsement of and pledge to continue the foreign and domestic programs of the Truman administration.

The "civil rights" plank as adopted represented a compromise of the thorny issue that long has split Northern and Southern wings of the party. Neither side was entirely satisfied with it, though each decided it was acceptable.

The platform was adopted by voice vote. There was a sizeable volume of "noes" that, but Chairman Sam Rayburn declared the "ayes" had it.

The Georgia and Mississippi delegations asked to be recorded as voting "no."

FLOOR FIGHT AVERTED
The averting of a knock-down, drag-out floor fight over civil rights was a major accomplishment of the harmony campaign being pressed by old line party leaders.

Four years ago there was a floor battle that led to Southerners putting a states' rights ticket into the campaign.

The civil rights plank contains no reference to the Fair Employment Practices Commission. It was support of the controversial FEPC that caused a floor battle in 1948. It contains no reference to Senate filibusters—which civil rights advocates had demanded vigorously.

The compromise plank was the main subject of a final eight-hour session of the 108-member platform committee which produced the document. Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts headed the committee.

U. S. Advance Cited
The platform pointed proudly to 20 years of Democratic administrations under Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Truman, saying:

"Our country has moved steadily along the road which has led the United States of America to world leadership in the cause of freedom."

"We will not retreat one inch along that road."

In a bid for continued voter support the platform said the "Democratic Party has been the chosen instrument to achieve prosperity, build a stronger democracy, erect the structure of world peace, and continue on the path of progress."

Democratic party policies and programs were credited with aiding business, agriculture, labor and other major segments of the population.

And the platform took early notice of blistering Republican platform charges of corruption and fraud in government.

"The Democratic Party has been alert to the corroding and demoralizing effects of dishonesty and disloyalty in the public service," the platform draft said.

"It has exposed and punished those who would corrupt the institution."

Dixie Delegates, Who Seemed Ready To Bolt, Reassured By Rayburn

CONVENTION HALL, Chicago (AP)—Alben W. Barkley, doughty Democratic patriarch, summoned the schism-threatened party legions Wednesday night to unite in a renewed "crusade" for victory over the GOP.

And for the moment, the Democratic national convention closed ranks in a tremendous throbbing ovation for the 74-year-old vice president who hid the hurt in his heart over being forced from the presidential nominating race.

Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois was out ahead in that race, still saying he wasn't running. President Truman was, for the moment, keeping hands off.

Here in this tremendous convention amphitheater, Dixie delegates who had seemed ready to bolt in a rage over a loyalty oath, grabbed up state banners and paraded with all the rest in a long, roaring demonstration for Barkley.

For awhile it had appeared that South Carolina, at least, and probably Virginia and Louisiana would take a walk. They talked of it openly.

Sen. Harry E. Byrd of Virginia, told a reporter they were "not going to yield one damn inch."

But then Sam Rayburn of Texas, taking over as permanent chairman of the convention, dropped a hint that so far as he was concerned the loyalty pledge would not be forced upon them.

"It is my thought," Rayburn said, "that every delegate seated here has a right to be here and each and every one of them shall have decent and courteous treatment."

And a high ranking member of Congress with a position of influence in the convention said he believed that meant Rayburn would rule the three states were entitled to vote on all matters coming before the Democratic convocation.

Platform Completed
Byrd said he didn't know about other delegates, but he intended to walk out if denied a vote.

At downtown convention headquarters in the Conrad Hilton Hotel, platform makers wound up their "round-the-clock" labors and approved a 1952 declaration of party policies and principles with all civil rights plank they hope will have both Northern and Southern support.

The drafting crew brought the 6,000-word document before the convention for approval late Wednesday. Northern leaders and some from the South were saying that a kind of amity had been reached on the civil rights plank—that there would be no floor fight.

"I am not here," he said, "as a candidate for any office the convention can offer. If I were, I would not be here at this hour because I recognize the proprieties of those who seek office."

Many delegates took that as a transparent rap across the knuckles for Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, one of the rivals for the presidential mantle. Kefauver, a convention delegate like Barkley, twice has shown up on the convention floor.

Barkley got a 24-minute ovation before he even could start speaking. He was cheered and applauded for 26 minutes more after he finished—just a minute less than the time he spoke.

Before Barkley spoke, word spread through this hall that Truman, apparently changing signals, has decided for the moment at least not to take any sides in the presidential tussle. In that contest it still looked like Stevenson against the field.

Previously, administration scouts on the scene here had let it be known that they expected the President to make known his choice by Wednesday, at the latest. And they indicated it probably would be Stevenson.

But from Washington Wednesday night came word that a top associate of Truman's said the President is withholding any endorsement of Stevenson until he is sure the Illinois governor is a winner.

Rayburn: 'Ike Is Just Front Man'

Says Demos Still
'For The People'

By FREEMAN FULBRIGHT

CHICAGO (INS) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn declared Tuesday night that Gen. Eisenhower is "the follower, not the commander" of the GOP and that the Democratic party has "remade" America into "the strongest nation the sun has ever shone upon."

The 70-year-old Texan, taking over as permanent chairman of the 31st Democratic National Convention, said that the trouble with Republican party leadership is that "Primarily (it's) agin' the people."

Rayburn added: "... I do not say that the Democratic party is all-wise. I do not say that it is all-holy. But I do say this ... I say it is for the people and the people know it."

Bill MacArthur
Rayburn attacked not only Eisenhower but Gen. Douglas MacArthur as well. He contrasted MacArthur's career since he was relieved of his Far Eastern command with the post-Civil War years of Gen. Robert E. Lee.

Lee, Rayburn recalled, spent the "rest of his life—loving, not hating; inspiring, not deriding; unifying, not dividing."

Rayburn said Eisenhower's nomination does not mean a new GOP, charging: "It is the same old party with a new candidate."

"Gen. Eisenhower was not in command of his own campaign. ... He was not the commander, but the follower."

Stands Where?
The speaker added: "Did anyone (at the GOP convention)—including the candidate—tell the people what he stood for?"

"The American people are not going to trade prosperity for promises. The American people are not going to gamble away a sure thing for an unknown uncertainty."

"Please bear this in mind," Rayburn told his listeners. "The face of America was remade and its wounds bound up not by cut-rate Presidents, but first-rate Presidents who had the interest of all the people at heart."

Here Are Views Of Stevenson On Issues Of Day

CHICAGO (AP) — Where does Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, who appears to have the Democratic presidential nomination within his grasp, stand on key public issues?

Stevenson, who has refused to run for the nomination, is not talking during these convention days. But his past record includes these statements:

Civil rights—"In Illinois, I have tried earnestly to effect the adoption of a fair employment practices law with powers of enforcement. I feel very strong that this is the first responsibility of the states themselves. If the states are unwilling or unable, then I presume there is no alternative to having the federal government do so. ... I think the Democratic party cannot retreat from the platform plank adopted at the 1948 convention."

Taft-Hartley Law
Taft-Hartley law—"Some features of the law seem to me to advance the cause of good labor relations, and other features, in my opinion, do not. I think the Democratic platform should recommend modifications." (The platform drafters have called for repeal and then new legislation.)

Health Insurance—"I am against the socialization of the practice of medicine as much as I would be against the socialization of my own profession, the law. ... If the insurance principle could be brought to bear on these catastrophic illnesses, it would largely eliminate the specter of terror from the average home. ... I am sure that ... the common objective can largely be realized without the destruction of professional independence."

On Foreign Policy
Foreign policy—"The hard fact of Soviet Communist imperialism presents a real danger to the free world now and for an indeterminate period to come. From this one fact flow many difficulties which we must face with understanding and stout hearts. The Democratic party should continue to stress in the future, as it has in the past, the necessity for mobilizing our strength, both military and economic, in support of the free nations of the world; the importance of continued working toward the international organization and maintenance of peace through the United Nations; the value of regional organizations of strength such as NATO, the Latin-American defense treaty arrangements in the Pacific; and the stepping up of the kind of technical help provided under the Point Four Program."

Corruption—"One corrupt public official is one too many. ... If there is Democratic dirt, let us clean it up and turn the flashlight into every dark corner."

Southern Walkout Apparently Averted—But Hold Your Breath

By J. E. LAWRENCE

(Editor, The Lincoln Star)

CHICAGO — This Democratic Convention's much heralded "walkout" of the Southern Wing was apparently quietly settled, thanks to the hard work of the meet's credentials and rules committees.

The split, which the Chicago Tribune said was the most serious since 1861, proved to be only a gentle gentleman's discussion, quickly settled.

But the split caused plenty of worry and discussion irregularities.

Nebraska's representative on the credentials committee, Willard Townsend of Lincoln, voted with the majority. In the case of the two contesting Texas delegations—one headed by Texas Gov. Shivers—and the other by Texas liberals—the majority report was supported by 36 members of the committee.

The minority report found favor with the representatives of 13 states. These Southern delegate contests inspired this comment from Mr. Townsend.

"In my judgment, these struggles that have occupied so much time and energy at the national conventions represent simply neglect and indifference at home. These states want to bring their troubles to the national conventions when actually most of the contests could be avoided by revising the election laws in those states where revision seems to be needed urgently."

The convention took steps to streamline its deliberations.

Its rules committee, headed by Sen. Moody of Michigan, created genuine enthusiasm when announcement was made that no nominating speech could exceed 15 minutes and the aggregate of second speeches would be limited to 10 minutes. With the prospect of an abundant crop of favorite sons on the first ballot, the Convention seemed to be thinking of its own personal comfort and peace of mind.

At the same time the rules committee took two more unprecedented steps. Hereafter, all minority reports presented to the convention will have to have the support of 10 per cent of the seated delegates.

And in the interest of more businesslike proceedings, the rules committee limited any nominating speech to 20 minutes and imposed the additional restriction that all demonstrations would be limited to actual seated delegates.

First unemployment in Lincoln resulting from the steel strike was the lay-off of 31 drivers of new automobile transport trucks.

Earl Stewart of Mack's Transport Service, 1215 No. 17th, told The Star a total of 31 drivers had been laid-off by Wednesday night.

They will remain "off the job" until the steel strike is settled plus about three weeks, when the flow of new cars begins again.

California Is Jolted Again

Kern County Loss
Reaches Millions

ARVIN, Calif. (INS) — New earth tremors hit the Arvin area of Kern County, near Tehachapi, Wednesday, causing additional damage amounting to millions of dollars.

Severest shocks came at 1:30 a.m., 6 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. Wednesday. There have been 40 additional shocks since the first thunderous earthquake that rocked California Monday.

No deaths or injuries were reported but heavy damage was caused to downtown buildings in Arvin, an agricultural community of 3,000 persons.

Transformers were ripped off, gas and water mains broken. Some buildings, which were weakened by earlier tremors, were flattened.

Biggest damage in Arvin and nearby Wheeler Ridge was expected to be loss of cotton and prune crops. Pumps, canals and pipelines were damaged.

The 12th victim of the quake died Wednesday. He was Ramon Tesador, 52, who died from burns suffered when a refrigerator unit exploded during Monday's earthquake.

Official estimates of the earthquake damage soared to the $100,000,000 mark, with shattered Tehachapi alone suffering nearly 50 millions in damage.

Speakers were Bernie Camp, C. W. Lemont, Noel Brennan and Lyle Sawyer.

Hungry Man, Unable To Talk, Hear, Read Or Write, Is Found By Police

Lincoln police had a problem Wednesday evening—they had a man who could not speak, hear, read or write.

A beat officer found the man on the street and questioned him. When he got no answer, the officer brought him to Headquarters.

Capt. Orren Graves told The Star that the man was not guilty of any crime and police were just trying to help him.

He was evidently very hungry. Police took him to St. Elizabeth Hospital where he is under observation.

Physicians say that he has been without food or drink "for several days."

Capt. Graves said that the man once wrote what appeared to be "Charles Crichton." That is the only clue police have concerning his identity.

He had a card with the names of all the Nebraska counties printed on it in his pocket and he kept pointing to Hamilton County, Graves said. But a quick check with Sheriff A. L. Andrews of that county showed that he was not wanted there. Sheriff Andrews said that he did not even know of such a man.

Capt. Graves thought that he might be about 25 years old and weigh about 150 pounds. He had dark hair and wore blue pants and a T-shirt.

"I guess we're just stuck with him," Capt. Graves said.

Chapin Appointed C. Of C. Assistant General Manager

Richard W. Chapin, who joined the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce staff four years ago, has been appointed assistant general manager of the chamber, succeeding James R. Critchfield.

Chapin's appointment was announced to directors of the organization at their meeting Wednesday noon.

There has been no official assistant manager of the group since April.

Manager Arch Baley said Chapin's new responsibility will not alter his duties as secretary of the Sowers Club, agriculture, conventions, insurance, public affairs, luncheons, shippers, sports and wholesale committees.

Chapin, who has been serving as area relations manager, came to the Lincoln organization after being secretary of the Atlantic, Ia., chamber. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and Lincoln High, and served in the Air Force.

Directors also heard latest developments on the Air Base, and a final report on the Field Economic Mobilization Course sponsored recently in conjunction with the industrial college of the armed forces.

Reds Step Up Allied Blasts; Outlook Bleak

MUNSAN (Thursday) (INS) — Little hope was held for a quick settlement in the Korea War in view of stepped-up Communist anti-American broadcasts hinting that current truce talks are doomed to failure.

Peiping Radio continued to play on the "hate America" theme in a Wednesday night broadcast which said:

"The Americans have no sincere desire for an early truce."

Meeting Unproductive
The Red propaganda blast was made following an unproductive seven-minute secret meeting of truce delegates at Panmunjom.

The only information given was that the delegates agreed to meet again this morning.

The main problem blocking a truce is prisoner exchange. The Communists want all prisoners exchanged but the Allies insist on the policy of "voluntary repatriation."

Today's meeting—the 17th in the current secret sessions—lasted only 26 minutes. The delegates agreed to meet again tomorrow.

tegrity of the public service, and it has always championed honesty and morality in government."

On foreign policy, the platform declared "peace with honor is the greatest of all our goals."

The draft document pledged the party to repeal of the Taft-Hartley labor act—legislation which President Truman has declared to be unfair to workers.

It promised to continue and improve farm-aid programs which it said, had rescued agriculture from "ruinous conditions" brought about by "bungling" Republican administrations.

As had been forecast, the farm plank promised to support producer prices of basic crops at not less than 90 per cent of parity.

Parity is a standard for measuring farm prices declared by law to be equally fair to farmers and those who buy their products.

This pledge, if carried out, would have the effect of wiping out flexible supports provided in present law and due to become effective in 1955, unless changed. Four years ago, the Democrats endorsed flexible supports, ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

One of the issues of the platform said the Democrats favor reduction of levies "as rapidly as defense requirements permit," especially for lower income groups.

Night-Blooming Flower Makes Hawaiian Coeds Feel At Home

It was just like taking a trip back home for Lilian Alfiche and Suki Tani last week.

The Nebraska Wesleyan coeds, both of whom live in the Hawaiian Islands, witnessed a full-dress performance by that oddity of oddities, the rare night-blooming cereus in the Wesleyan campus greenhouse.

The cereus, native to Hawaii but unusual and strictly a hot-house plant in the midwest, staged its most prolific blooming pageant this summer.

Ordinarily only one of the delicate white flowers will bloom at a time, always at night, and lasting only a few hours.

But this year the plant broke into an unprecedented rash of production and 14 of the beautiful blooms emerged for a single one-night stand.

Bloomed Twice

Two years ago the plant crossed up Caretaker Coleman Phelps by blooming twice in a single season—another rare performance which has been surpassed only by the unusual rash of blossoms produced this year.

The cereus, a variety of cactus, is rare in this part of the country chiefly because it requires hot-house care. Many flower fanciers are thrilled at the sight of the blossoms but seldom raise the plants—odious eyesores throughout the entire year except for the brief blooming period.

Red Ideas Should Be Studied, Says 'Books' Leader

An Englishman who frowns on "dumping the ideas of Marx, Engels and Lenin into the ocean" without careful study led a Great Books practice discussion of Plato's writings at Love Library.

He is John A. Bremer, assistant regional director of the Great Books Foundation, an institution organized for the propagation of books written by great writers, philosophers and educators.

While opposing Communism, Bremer believes studying the ideals of the philosophers of that movement is the only way to understand world-wide Communism as it exists.

As Bremer sees it, Great Books discussions clear up problems of communication, tend to rid people of their prejudices and get away from classroom lectures—where material is passed from teacher to students' notes without reflection.

Discussion sessions for the Great Books program will begin at NU, Sept. 11. Requests for information should be addressed to the Lincoln City Library.

Iowa Farmer Missing Since Trip To Omaha

HAMBURG, Ia. (AP)—Authorities in Iowa and Nebraska have been asked to help seek William Cary, 77, missing since July 8 when he left here to drive to Omaha, Neb.

Members of Cary's family fear he may have met with foul play. Cary, a well-to-do Hamburg resident, owned a large farm across the state line in Missouri.

Back Of Stevenson's Coyness

By J. E. LAWRENCE

CHICAGO—The real reason why Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois sought to avoid a presidential nomination may be in one of ageless stories which deal with the love of a man and a woman.

Gov. Stevenson is deeply devoted to the woman who divorced him because of her deep dislike for political life. The governor, it is said by one who poses as a family intimate, has lived in the hope that he and his former wife might be united once again. And if that is the case, then it is one of those breathless tales in which a capable, popular man would close his eyes to the presidency of the United States in order to re-establish his home. It is one of those things you do not talk about.

But Gov. Stevenson was not playing hard to get or coy with the idea of developing a draft movement for himself. He was not the kind of warrior who ducks duty because Gen. Dwight Eisenhower was nominated as the Republican candidate for President. There is nothing to indicate Stevenson is afraid of Eisenhower or the reputed Eisenhower popularity. The Illinois governor is an outstanding man, scholarly, hard-working and a real vote-getter in his own right.

What is Stevenson like? He has an easy way with people. He has a warm smile, a quick sense of humor and an intellectual capacity above that of any man in the convention contests, Republican or Democrat. He makes a good speech, notable more for its content than for its delivery.

That welcome address of his could serve as a model of beauty in language and thought for college and high school classes. He was a man with something to say and he said it well. He seemed to know what the delegates wanted in their meeting here, and he set them to thinking about their labors.

Before this appears in print the scene may have changed. But Stevenson would make his party a great candidate. And there is another who will bear watching from now on. He lacks the moderation, the experience and the unemotional outlook of Stevenson, but Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota is quite a boy. Stevenson is not an extremist. He is a middle-roader, which explains his popularity in Illinois. He has done a magnificent job here in this state against heavy odds.

Nebraska's Place In The Sun

Something of Nebraska pride may inspire a feeling in this writer that the Nebraska delegations to the two political conventions overlook an opportunity open to them. The observation applies both to Republicans and Democrats.

In the days of the giants, or more properly when the late W. J. Bryan held Democratic conventions in the hollow of his hand through the magic of his voice and the eloquence of his sentences, every national convention knew that Nebraska was on the map. Much the same attention was riveted upon Nebraska when the late George W. Norris was at the peak of his career. And in 1932 it was the late Sen. Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Omaha who headed up the all-important Platform Committee.

Before taking off for this last convention we received a letter from a good friend in the neighboring state of Iowa, State Chairman Jake More. There are few better organizers in this country than Mr. More. With a long tradition of Republicanism in Iowa, Mr. More nevertheless in his enthusiastic efforts has built a strong Democratic party in that state.

In response to an invitation to attend a party he was giving, we saw a little bit of the thoroughness of his work. It was quite a party. Instead of the Iowa delegation calling upon the individual candidates, one after another, the candidates called upon Iowa, each one speaking briefly.

And then to cap it all, the Iowans brought in their trick mule—an import from South Dakota—but a very intelligent mule. When someone asked the mule if the convention would nominate within the first three ballots, the mule shook its head emphatically, "Yes." When the next question came—the name of the successful candidate—the mule shook its head, "No," indicating that it was not going to risk its well-established reputation by hazarding a guess.

It is not too early for Nebraskans to begin to lay plans for four years hence. Nebraska's influence can be felt infinitely more than it has in recent years. The nucleus is there. And it might be added that it is surprising how many persons bob up who either attended the University of Nebraska, served on the faculty, or in some way was associated with the state university. We have met no less than half a dozen in the last day.

The Strange Case Of Byrd

It was not bigness of heart that led the Texas delegation to approve the loyalty resolution passed by the Democratic National Convention.

Texas Gov. Shivers has had his eye upon the seat in the United States Senate occupied so long by Sen. Tom Connally, who took himself out of public life. It is one thing to talk tough and still another to take the long walk out of the convention to build up Republican strength in Texas. That is one luxury which Gov. Shivers might find he cannot afford.

In somewhat the same position is Sen. Harry

Byrd, victorious for renomination on the Democratic ticket after a ding-dong primary battle, one of the hardest in his long political career. Byrd is mad all the way through, but he also is a smart politician. He might be the victim of his own rage if he built up a strong Republican following for Dwight Eisenhower.

That is a predicament these bolting southern states face. The same tactics that led to formation of the Dixiecrat party are not so readily available this year. That does not make them any happier, but it does make them more cautious.

Ike, Nebraska And Massachusetts

A tape recording made here in this convention city when Gen. Dwight Eisenhower called upon the Nebraska delegation to the Republican National Convention may cast its long shadows upon the Massachusetts election in November.

Eisenhower, it will be recalled, had told the Nebraska delegation in an informal, friendly chat that part of France's troubles could be attributed to the fact 50 per cent of her people are either agnostic or atheist. Little attention was directed to it at the time, but later the general's observation drew fire.

Young Joe Kennedy, serving in the House, and about to take on Henry Cabot Lodge for a seat in the United States Senate, heard about it. He has been busy trying to locate the tape recording. Lodge, who was Eisenhower's pre-convention manager, has a lot of French votes in Massachusetts. Kennedy, it is said, wants to use the recording in the campaign.

Putting On The Program

The men who draw up the program for the Democratic convention have done a job which, admittedly weak at times, nevertheless stands up well when compared to the flow of speakers to the Republican rostrum two weeks ago.

The face of the Old Guard of Republicanism was well exposed at the earlier convention. There was Martin and McCarthy, Dirksen and Bridges, Cain and Kem. The party youngsters, although they later trumpeted their victory, were hardly to be seen during convention proceedings.

Watch Ye These Things

When it comes to safety slogans, a man from "down under" is certainly in the running for first prize. Laurence Duggan, acting premier of Queensland, has prepared nine commandments for driving, but his slogans have a difference. They all are adapted from Biblical quotations: "This is the way, walk ye in it"—for pedestrian crossings.

"Thou shalt not kill"—for drivers. "Remember, straight is the road, narrow the way"—for passing. "The ends thereof are the way to death"—for drunken drivers. "Bear and forbear"—for driving rivalry. "Thou shalt not bear false witness"—after accidents.

"Do unto others as I would they should do unto me"—courtesy. "In all things show thyself a pattern"—personal example. "Be courteous, be sober, be vigilant"—a rule for all.

From A To Z

As if there weren't enough abbreviated names in the international affairs alphabet, a new one has been added. It is the 'Anzus Council,' which represents Australia, New Zealand and the United States, a new body aiming to put teeth in the Pacific Mutual Security Pact. The motive is fine, but the only individuals who gain any pleasure from these alphabetical maneuvers are the headline writers, who can make them fit neatly in one column, large type.

DREW PEARSON

Truman Has Strong Views On Candidates

CHICAGO—The favorite occupation of this convention is quoting President Truman as to whom he is for. There are half a dozen cabinet members here, plus a score of senators, plus certain highly placed Democratic bosses, plus two White House observers.

Some of them actually have access to the White House by telephone. Most of them don't. But from many you can get a whispered version of whom the President wants or doesn't want.

The situation is almost identical with the Chicago convention of 1944 when Franklin Roosevelt was en route by train to the West Coast, and when Bob Hannegan, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, Mayor Kelly of Chicago and other party bosses undertook to tell the delegates whom they should nominate as vice president. That was the memorable occasion when Hannegan, then national chairman, produced a letter listing first Sen. Harry Truman, then Justice William O. Douglas as FDR's preference for V.P.

It was not until some years later that Grace Tully, FDR's personal secretary, told how that letter had been retyped at Hannegan's direction in order to put Truman's name ahead of Douglas.

Today the man who benefitted by that switch of names is in the White House, with the power to influence, perhaps pick, his successor. Here is a summary of how he seems to be reacting:

In regular staff meetings, the President has played his political cards close to his chest. Never has he disclosed his hand regarding a possible successor.

To a few extremely close advisers, however, he finally indicated that he would favor Averell Harriman, because of Harriman's 100 per cent support of the New-Fair Deal program. This was about two weeks before the convention.

When this word leaked out, however, Democratic Chairman Frank McKinney urged the President to reverse himself and take Vice President Alben Barkley instead. McKinney is reported to have warned that the party would be split wide open if anyone as controversial on the race question were nominated, and that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower could easily carry the South.

Several other Southern Democrats whom the President trusts made similar representations, and following this, Truman is reported to have given the word to McKinney that he could promote the vice president's candidacy.

Meanwhile, Mr. Truman still looks with favor on Harriman, also has no objection to Estes Kefauver, despite the fact that he has long been miffed at the Tennessee senator for the personal trouncing he gave the President in New Hampshire.

He is definitely thumbs down on Sen. Robert S. Kerr and Sen. Richard B. Russell, however, and he has been irritated at Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois for being so aloof, though he still regards Stevenson as an excellent man. That's about the way the President's variegated views have been expressed to intimates as the Democratic convention nears the voting stage.

—SMOKE-FILLED ROOMS—

Joe Leighton, Harriman's press chief, has tipped off Kefauver headquarters privately that Averell might be satisfied to be secretary of state, with Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. as vice president on a Kefauver ticket. . . . Cong. William Dawson of Chicago, one of the only two Negroes in the House of Representatives, has received a steady stream of colored delegates from all over the country. He has been telling them to vote for anyone except Kefauver. (Some of the congressmen's friends were in the Chicago numbers racket which Kefauver exposed).

An 8-year-old boy was parading in a political snake dance for Harriman. Asked why he was in favor of Harriman, he replied: "Youth is for Harriman." . . . Mrs. India Edwards has the unique distinction of being the only candidate not seeking the presidential nomination—she only wants to be vice president. . . . While every candidate wants Truman's support, Oscar Ewing's headquarters is the only one openly displaying pictures of the President.

—CHICAGO-GO-ROUND—

A dead-ringer for Sen. Kerr was walking around the Conrad Hilton lobby with a big Kefauver button on his lapel. He turned out to be Francis Robinson of Ashland, Neb. He looked so much like Kerr that people stopped him. Once in Omaha he happened to go into Kerr's hotel and the desk gave him Kerr's keys. However, Robinson is 100 per cent for Kefauver.

Sen. Kerr has the most garish headquarters, complete with a log cabin replica of his birthplace, free movies, which attract a motley group of nonvoting youngsters. Kerr also has a fancy juke box blaring out the tune "Oklahoma!"

—INSIDE ADLAI—

Gov. Stevenson's son, Borden Stevenson, has been secretly working to draft his father. Borden is at the "Draft Stevenson" headquarters run by a group of University of Chicago professors at the Conrad Hilton Hotel. . . . Stevenson's sons at first were cold to his candidacy, later flipped over to favoring a presidential bid by their father. . . . Anti-Stevenson propagandists spread the story around Chicago hotel lobbies that Stevenson was afraid to run because he feared the story would come out that he had once murdered a man. The story isn't true. What happened was that Stevenson, at the age of 13, accidentally set off a gun killing a 15-year-old cousin at a party given by his sister during a Christmas holiday. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental homicide.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Stevenson Has Rare Quality: Imagination

CHICAGO—The mystification about Gov. Adlai Stevenson's reluctance to run for the presidency can be readily explained away. The answer lies in large part because he possesses a quality rare in all human beings and especially rare in politicians.

That quality is imagination. From the time when it was first reported in this space that President Truman would not run for re-election and that Stevenson was, in the President's view, the most logical candidate, the governor has clearly foreseen the ordeal ahead.

He knows that the next four years will, in all probability, see a mounting crisis at home and abroad that will test to the utmost the powers and the patience of the man in the White House. It will be a crisis of survival in which the President may well be a kind of sacrificial burnt offering.

Stevenson also has the imagination to know what his personal life would be like in the prison of the White House. Without a wife—Stevenson is divorced—his life would be especially irksome. He knows, too, the pressures of publicity that would fall pitilessly on his three sons.

Some have seen in Stevenson's reluctance to relax and enjoy what apparently all along has been inevitable—a calculated coyness intended to lure the prize away from those who were in hot pursuit. That view this reporter finds it difficult to put down to anything but the cynicism of the average politician who sees everything in terms of a drive for power.

At least a dozen times this reporter has talked with Stevenson in the past six months and each time he has spoken with deep conviction—almost an anguish of soul—of his determination not to run for President. He marshalled all the reasons, personal and public, for his conviction.

When friends argued that he had taken the fatal step once he decided to run for governor and that once launched in the stream of history there was no turning back, he would demand to know with insistence and something like anger why he should not be allowed to lead his own life. The answer to that is, of course, being written by this convention. A great majority of the delegates, and a large proportion of them are officeholders, feel Stevenson is their best and maybe their only bet to win. It is their further hope that he will bridge the split between North and South.

Mystification has been made, too, of the relationship between Truman and Stevenson. The President was annoyed when the crown he offered was put aside. In addition to Stevenson's natural reluctance, a practical political reason also might have dictated this action. The crown bore the trademark of Harry S. Truman. It would have designated the Illinois governor as his apparent.

But as to a letter in which Stevenson is supposed to have rejected both Truman and the Truman program, little evidence exists for such a document. Eager candidates would have welcomed it as a weapon against Stevenson with the President.

Truman is, however, too practical a politician and too loyal a party man to permit personal pique to get in the way of victory. That practicality was illustrated when Truman's good friend, Vice President Barkley, telephoned him to say in anger and in sorrow that the leaders of organized labor had turned thumbs down on the Barkley candidacy.

The President was genuinely sympathetic. He said such action was grossly unfair in view of Barkley's long record in behalf of labor. But since this was a fact, he intimated, and since the party could not win without labor, the vice president's candidacy had come to a full stop. The telephone conversation preceded Barkley's statement of withdrawal.

What the President had assured Barkley was a trial run with the Truman vote cast for him by his Missouri alternate on the first ballot—that and nothing more. If three or four ballots showed that Barkley could not gain sufficient strength, then the President's support was to have been switched to another candidate.

Watching his television set, Truman, the pragmatic politician, was pleased by Stevenson's opening address and, more important, he was greatly impressed by the demonstration, which seemed to have some real spontaneity in it. That address was, in effect, Stevenson's "yes." His "no" would have been a perfunctory welcoming talk full of allusions to the state and his role in the state. For better or worse—for the country as well as for the individual—man of imagination, of sensitivity, of some Hamlet-like qualities is launched on the national stream.

Truman Calls Personal Talks With Steel And Labor

Lewis Note Raises Coal Strike Fear

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Truman Wednesday called the top union and industry leaders in the nationwide steel dispute to a White House conference Thursday in a personal effort to end the crippling 52-day-old strike.

The White House said Truman summoned CIO President Philip Murray and President Benjamin Fairless of U. S. Steel to meet with him at 8 a.m. (CST).

Both Murray and Fairless promptly accepted the invitation. Defense Mobilizer John R. Steelman will sit in.

Seizure Re-Studied

In announcing the President's dramatic new bid to bring peace to the strike paralyzed steel industry, Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told newsmen that possible use of the 1948 Selective Service (draft) act was being "re-studied."

The act permits seizure of defense plants under certain emergency conditions.

It was reported last week that seizure of a small portion of the industry under the draft act was receiving "serious consideration" at the White House. It would apply chiefly to plants producing special steel for guns, ammunition, tanks, etc.

Like Bomber Attack

Truman's decision to take personal charge of the long-stale-mated negotiations came amid these related developments:

1. Secretary of Defense Lovett compared the impact of the steel strike on the nation's defense production program to a devastating attack by enemy bombers. He warned that it may soon have serious effects on the rate of U. S. fire power in Korea.
2. Unemployment directly stemming from the steel strike edged close to the two-million mark. Total loss to the national economy was estimated at four billion dollars.

Coal Strike Threatens

Both sides in the great steel controversy have virtually agreed on all major points in dispute except the question of compulsory union membership — the union shop.

The CIO Steel Workers Union served notice Monday that it would insist on its demand for a union shop.

In addition, the steel companies are seeking to persuade the government that they need substantial price boosts for their steel to cover any wage boosts granted to the steel workers.

Meanwhile, the threat of a new major labor dispute arose—this time in the coal industry.

In Pittsburgh, a spokesman for Western Pennsylvania coal operators said he had been informed that John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, notified the industry Tuesday that the UMW is terminating its soft-coal agreement in 60 days.

The spokesman said the expiration of the 60-day period would fall on Monday, Sept. 22.

In Washington, Lewis sent word that he could neither confirm nor deny the Pittsburgh report.

The President's daughter left for London, Paris, and Salzburg, Wednesday night, after two days in the Scottish capital.

Patterson Is Renamed To Legion Post

R. C. Patterson, Lincoln, has been re-appointed department adjutant of the American Legion as the state Legion's executive committee completed its organization for the coming year.

Patterson has held the post since 1936. Other re-appointments saw N. H. McKeag, Grand Island, named department finance officer and Denzel Dawson, Lincoln, assistant department service officer.

E. C. Sanderson, Lincoln, is department service officer.

The committee made the appointments on the recommendation of Warren Wood, of Gering, who won a close race at the state convention, by topping Harry Decker of Ashland 555 to 528 votes for state commander.

Seniority Schedule

The committee set up the following seniority schedule for the four newly elected vice commanders:

Joe Devereaux of Omaha, senior vice commander.

Robert Herzog of Grand Island, second vice commander.

Lee Williams of Superior, third vice commander.

A. O. Jones of Sutherland, fourth vice commander.

John E. Curtis, Lincoln, is national committeeman and Fred W. Schuman, Osceola, alternate. Heading the national convention delegation in New York, Aug. 25 to 28 will be the retiring state commander Peter Marchetti, Omaha.

The Nebraska department's membership goal for 1953 is 61,500. Membership for 1952 has now reached 54,000.

School Expense Is Way Up, But Within Budget

Overall expenses within the Lincoln public school system increased during the 1951-52 year, but were still within the bounds of the budget, according to reports made as of June 30 and just submitted to the Board of Education.

Expenditure and receipt reports showed that within the general fund, costs of all divisions but administration were up. These categories include instruction, operation, maintenance, auxiliary agencies, fixed charges and extension activities.

Receipts to the general and building funds dropped slightly over those received the previous year, but a decided increase was recorded in the bond interest and bond sinking funds. The bond interest fund, upped by $63,075.73 in bond investment interest, jumped to $223,110.26 over the previous year's $58,491.89. The bond sinking fund increased its receipts from $145,611.50 to $286,163.17.

Under Budget

Grand total of the general fund expenditures was $3,227,414.23, which was $478,683.53 under the budget, but still $414,667.72 over the actual expenditures during 1950-51.

The largest percentage of the school's expenditures, 72.70 per cent, was chalked up to instruction costs. Total expenditures in the general fund were:

	Expense	Per Cent of Total
Administration	87,199.98	2.69
Instruction	2,382,656.72	72.70
Operation	412,287.09	12.88
Maintenance	200,588.84	6.12
Auxiliary agencies	105,240.56	3.21
Fixed charges	14,142.69	.43

His paternal grandfather, General Stephen Elliott, fought on the side of the South during the Civil War.

Steel Strike Effects Causing Worry In Nebraska

Future Tin Can Supply Is Uncertain

The continuing steel strike Wednesday was causing a lot of worry in Nebraska, although no hardship cases were reported.

Among those especially concerned were food canners. A number of them expressed uncertainty over the future supply of cans. The "tin" cans used for packaging many foods are made from steel and are tin-plated.

The government has already made an allocation of cans for fresh perishables—such things as corn and tomatoes. But that allotment didn't affect many food packagers in Nebraska.

The general reaction from food canners was that the shortage has not affected their output yet, but the future is uncertain and not at all promising, the Associated Press said.

Edwin A. Trowbridge, general manager of Wilson and Company's Omaha plant, said "it begins to look serious," although Wilson's has not curtailed its use of cans.

"Can Be Critical" W. Clark Swanson, executive vice president of the C. A. Swanson Co., said the situation "can be critical." He said Swanson's, too, was still turning out its normal output of canned foods.

Ray Norris, controller of the Omaha Cudahy Packing Co. plant, said that "we do know that the first of August there will be some restrictions on the use of cans imposed by the canners themselves."

He said the restriction would effect cans for dog meat and certain other types of canned meats. "We have no assurance how long the present supply of cans will last," he said.

At Nebraska City, Carl H. Nelson, secretary-treasurer of the Oke Food Products Co., told the Associated Press that his firm, though in the unusual position of making its own cans, was also in an uncertain position.

"We are using tin plate out of our inventory," he said, adding he felt the shortage "is going to make itself felt in several weeks."

Meanwhile the first layoffs from the steel strike had already come. Some processors and users of steel had cut working hours or halted work on some projects.

Retailers saw the first signs that available supplies of some steel or part steel items were beginning to shrink.

In Fremont, for instance, an auto dealer who would normally get eight to ten new cars during a month said he had received only three. He had a waiting list of 30 customers.

Price Up There were fewer cars in Fremont used car lots, and prices were up.

Some farm implement and hardware dealers also said they were feeling some effects of the strike in the availability of merchandise. So were hardware and plumbing companies and building contractors.

The Beatrice Steel Tank Manufacturing Co. was forced to shut down work on one contract but still had enough steel to last a few weeks more in two other departments.

Work Week Cut In Omaha, the Omaha Steel Works cut its work week from 45 to 40 hours and the Paxton-Vierling Iron Works shut down volume production for two weeks, sending most of its employees home on paid vacations.

John C. Kerrigan, manager of the Fremont Foundry, observed that the strike is "slowing everyone up. Not so much right now, but in 30 days, things might get serious."

The Union Pacific Railroad announced layoff of 400 to 500 men in the Omaha-Council Bluffs area and 30 at Grand Island due to the steel strike and steel shortage.

At Sidney, there had been early complaints from the oil industry that the pinch would put a crimp in both drilling activity and the laying of pipe lines. But the oil search was being pressed ahead with most firms trying to maintain their wildcat drilling schedule up to the onset of cold weather.

YOUNG CONSERVATIONIST—This young member of the Rokeby 4-H Club, a soil conservation group, adds another layer of dirt to a new terrace on the Les Hoy farm southeast of Lincoln. The tractor driver, 16-year-old Marvin Hoy, pulls a windmill terracer as part of soil conservation demonstrations in terracing. The eight members of the club who attended the demonstration also repaired a waterway and small dam. This, with the construction of the 300-foot terrace, completed the soil conservation plan on the farm. The terrace was laid out by Emory Nelson of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service office in Lincoln, and Club Leader Oscar Spellman was in charge of the demonstration, one of several being held this week and next by soil conservation 4-H clubs in Lancaster County. ## M'Cook Driver Dies In Crash

McCook, Neb. (AP) — Everett Randolph, 37, McCook, Neb., was killed Wednesday when his car went out of control on U.S. Highway 83 about 20 miles north of McCook.

Highway Patrolman John Nelson said a woman passenger, identified as Dorothy Speth, 23, Culbertson, Neb., suffered a sprained back and ankle, but was not believed to be seriously injured. Randolph, who operated Randy's Cigar Store here, died instantly.

Nelson said Randolph was driving south about 2 a.m. down a long hill when his car went out of control, rolled over several times and plunged into a canyon. The car was demolished.

Nebraska's highway toll thus was raised to 166 as compared with 151 on this date last year.

Drive Intensified Seeking Industry Hike For Norfolk

Meanwhile, 70 thousand dollars have been pledged in the drive to raise 100 thousand dollars for use by the Greater Norfolk Corporation in constructing industrial buildings here for sale or lease to manufacturing or distributing firms.

It's all part of a campaign to bring new industry to the Norfolk area.

Weather Cuts Cheyenne Wheat Estimate One-Third

SIDNEY, Neb. (P)—The saddest comment of 1952 in this great Nebraska wheat-raising empire is the line: "It might have been."

It refers, of course, to the wheat crop which would have been harvested here had it not been for the twin consequences of intense heat and violent storms.

On the basis of the harvest now being reaped in Cheyenne County, it is possible to accurately estimate that this one county alone would have cut between 7½ and 8 million bushels of wheat if early June heat and subsequent hail storms had not taken such a large toll.

5 Million Bushel Crop
As it is, the county is expected to get between 4½ and 5 million bushels, worth an estimated 9 to 10 million dollars. But the crop would have set an all-time record in both volume and value if it had been spared the assaults of nature.

In short, the county lost about a third of its wheat. Instead of taking 15 to 16 million dollars, wheat farmers expect to collect about two-thirds of that amount.

Inasmuch as a yield of around five million bushels is considered reasonably normal for the county, the 1952 crop cannot be considered a disappointment. The big black spot is the fact that many farmers are getting nothing, whereas others are cutting whopping per-acre averages.

U.S. Loan Price
Uncle Sam will be handling virtually the entire crop for the time being, at least, because the federal guarantee runs much higher than the existing market price. The government set a $2.14 per bushel loan price for Cheyenne County and the market has slumped to around $1.85.

The principal damage to what was considered to be an unprecedented wheat crop came in the early June heat wave, the destructive hail of June 25 and 26

THUNDERSHOWERS—Widely scattered thundershowers will fall Thursday in Rocky Mountain states, the Dakotas, central and southern plains states and south Atlantic states. Showers also are forecast for northwest Pacific states. There will be fair weather over northeast quadrant of U.S. Cooler temperatures are due from northern New England southwestward through Ohio and Tennessee Valleys and also into northwest Pacific states. ## Ban Omaha Hogs At Oklahoma City

OKLAHOMA CITY (P)—An embargo against importation of Omaha and three other cities are in effect here.

Importation of hogs from Omaha, Sioux City, Kansas City and St. Joseph was banned because of reported outbreaks of vesicular exanthema in those areas.

Shipments from other areas in Nebraska, Missouri and Iowa are not affected.

The order, issued by Dr. D. H. Ricks, state veterinarian, in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Animal Husbandry, will remain in effect until the disease is brought under control.

The Men In Our Lives (When Grandpa Was A Boy)

Well, well AND well! Look who's here, all dressed up in a bow tie—Don't think the second look will do you too much good, either, because he has changed considerably. But then, perhaps a really discerning eye can catch a certain prominent citizen. It would be a bit difficult to determine the young man's future from this picture—but he does, even here, show promise of the football star he eventually became. But one thing to which the picture gives no clue is his business ability, although we aren't discounting that shrewd expression on the youthful face. Please note the size of the bow tie—and the turn of his coat—pretty fancy stuff—but we fasten to add that this was not his "every day" apparel, since he, with three other members of his family, were all dressed up and posing for the photographer. Our grandpa, however, definitely has developed a flair for clothes—not his own, especially, but for various of the populace. Incidentally his young granddaughter doubtless has inherited that clothes sense—and already seems rather pleased with the vision of infant loveliness she sees in the mirror even though her age still is counted by months. The future of our pretty little sub-deb looks pretty rosy from here, especially in the matter of clothes—With her grandfather and father both having ideas as to what the well dressed woman should wear we feel reasonably sure that little Wallis Swanson will be the belle of any and every ball.

So now you know, our grandpa is none other than Clarence Swanson, the adored and adoring grandfather of Wallis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Swanson.

Introducing— Mrs. Stanley Sandage and Gregory

While daddy is busy being manager of an automobile accessories store, the young man of the house is home lamenting the fact we have cold days that prevent him from hopping into his wading pool. Twenty month old Greg is so crazy about his newest possession that one evening, overcome with desire, he jumped in the water with his shoes and stockings on! Greg and his parents came to Lincoln from Newton, Ia., where they resided for fourteen months, and now hope to make Lincoln their permanent home.

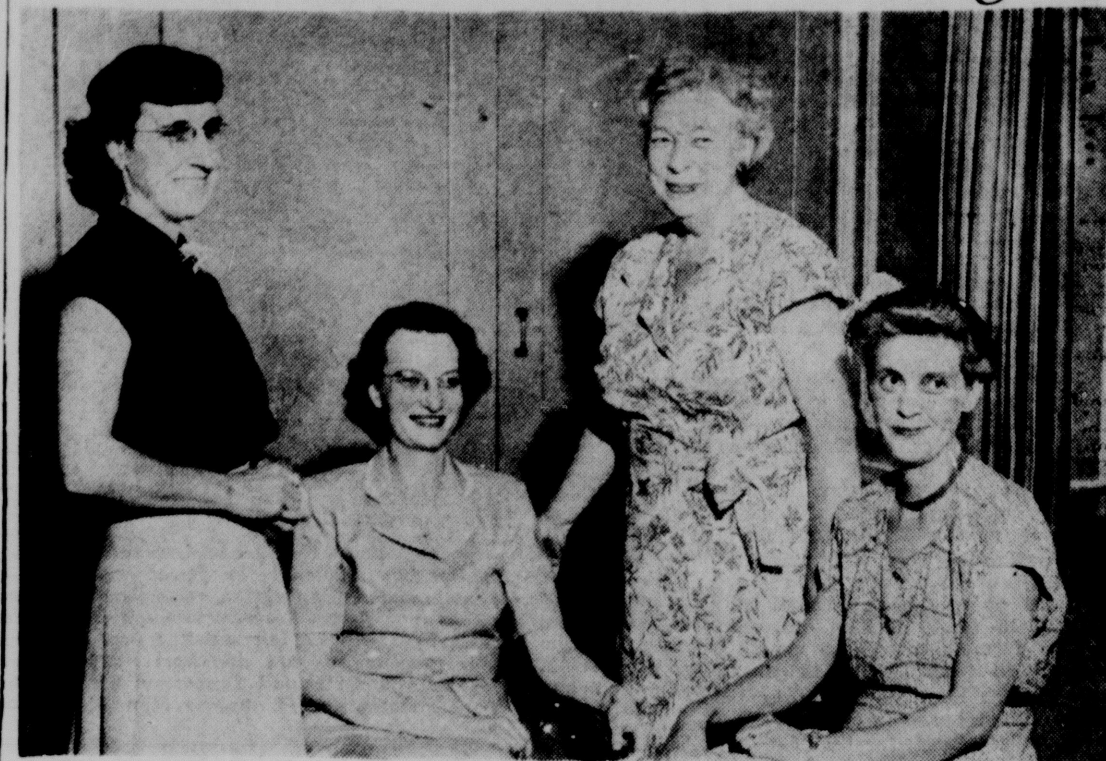

Mrs. Sandage is a mid-Westerner by birth, and claims Lamona, Ia., as the home town. An alumna of Graceland college, she took pre-med work there, only to turn to accounting as a career! She has abandoned her sports program, in which she was very active during college, for her home and family. The Sandages like to entertain, as much as they can with an active baby, and tend to center their interests around their handsome boy.

Photography slides and developing occupy Mr. Sandage's leisure time, when the baby lets him out of sight! In his new manhood, Mr. Sandage finds himself working well into the evening, which leaves time only for a friendly roughhouse after dinner and before Greg goes to bed. But if there is a spare moment, and if Mr. Sandage even senses a pond, he is off, rod and reel in hand. The Sandages' interesting library includes volumes on horticulture and botany, a college major that the man of the house is beginning once again to investigate. A former student at both Drake university and Iowa State college, he is a member of Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity.

The Sandage's immediate future is already planned for them... Mrs. Sandage went to her knitting drawer which held both pink and blue yarn, but by instinct, picked up the pink for the trim on the tiny white booties, (which are to be kept in readiness for this fall), so perhaps her intuition means that they expect a girl this time! They are not particular, for Greg would adore a younger brother only two years his junior. They hope to install a television set in plenty of time for the world series and the professional football games this year.

Society vs Politics

THIS THING of being in competition with a political convention could get a bit wearisome if one weren't so vitally interested in which candidate was doing what and why—But since the politics are meeting in Chicago and we're still holding forth in Lincoln, we don't consider the competition too serious—Anyway we have a few things to offer that the convention doesn't—We have guests, news of travelers, a party or two—and all the convention has are candidates and speakers—

HEARD A FAMILIAR voice on the telephone late yesterday—It was Mrs. Arthur Edgren of Scottsdale, Ariz., who is in Lincoln for a brief visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edgren.

Mrs. Edgren came to Lincoln from Silver Plume, Colo., where her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Powell of Scottsdale, their children, and Mrs. Edgren had been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hunt's mother, Mrs. Leota Woods, at the Hunt summer home.

Mrs. Edgren will leave tomorrow to return to Colorado for a few days stay before returning home. UNDERSTAND that Mr. and Mrs. Willard Folsom, their son Billy, and their daughter, Susan, are back home again after a vacation in Colorado.

book away too soon—Turned the page and learned that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mattison, their daughter, Georgia, and son, Rogers, have arrived from Duncan, Okla., to spend a few days as the house guests of Mr. Mattison's mother, Mrs. Kate Mattison. Mr. and Mrs. Mattison and their children, accompanied by Mrs. Kate Mattison, leave at the end of the week for Tompkinsville, Wis., where they will visit Mrs. Mattison's son, Don Mattison. From Tompkinsville the travelers will go on to Cass Lake, Minn., where they will spend some time as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mattison of Oklahama City, who are vacationing at Cass Lake.

"THE BEST laid plans of mice and men" may sometimes go astray, but trust an 11-year-old to follow through—Early in July Miss Penny Penton, aged 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Clarence Penton, left Lincoln with Dr. and Mrs. L. J. Owen. And their young daughter, for a trip to Hawaii. The group was to have sailed on July 9, but because of the maritime strike the reservations were cancelled. So—the Owen family decided to go to Mexico, but Penny went to San Diego where she was the guest of her older sister, Miss Phyllis Penton, who finally managed to get a single plane reservation for Penny, who flew to Hawaii from Los Angeles on July 16—In Honolulu she was met by her aunt, Mrs. Richard Greenwood, and her cousins, Janet and Mary, who immediately whisked Penny on to another plane and they were all off and away to view the volcano which has been on a rampage recently.

Penny is so pleased with Honolulu that she thinks she might attend school there for the next several months.

Wedding Solemnized

At a 7 o'clock ceremony which took place Monday evening, July 21, at Trinity Lutheran church in Talmage, Miss Florine Gadeken, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben A. Gadeken of Talmage, became the bride of John C. Thaggard of Lincoln, son of Mrs. M. M. Thaggard of Philadelphia, Miss. White gladioli and garden flowers decorated the altar, and sprays of the blossoms, tied with white satin marked the pews the length of the processional aisle.

The Rev. E. O. Baack, Jr., read the lines of the service, and the wedding music was played by Miss Martha Siepelmeier, organist. Miss Siepelmeier also accompanied Miss Regina Brandorff who sang "Because," "A Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer," as the candles were lighted by Imogene Evers of Omaha, and Betty Gadeken of Talmage, frocked in pink or-gandy.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. LaVern Dieckgrafe of Cook, who wore an afternoon frock of yellow frosted organdy and a shoulder corsage of white gladioli. Wearing pastel blue organdy and a white gladioli corsage was the maid of honor, Miss Delores Teten of Talmage, cousin of the bride. The flower girls were Dianne McIninch and Elaine Teten, wearing yellow organdy frocks.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of white frosted organdy designed in the daytime mode with fitted bodice and flaring skirt edged with a band of pleated organdy. Her accessories were white and she carried a nosegay of red roses.

Felix Thaggard of Lincoln, served his brother as best man, and the ushers were LaVern Dieckgrafe of Cook, Bennie Gadeken of Brock, and Donald Teten of Talmage. Jerry Gadeken was ringbearer.

A reception was held at the church parlors following the ceremony.

We Hear That

Mrs. Iva M. Fifer was honored at a surprise party Tuesday evening at her home when she celebrated her birthday. A group of 21 friends presented Mrs. Fifer with a gift and then served refreshments. Mrs. Luella Klyver was in charge of arrangements.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Munson are the parents of a son, Garret Leon, who was born on Monday, July 21, at St. Elizabeth Hospital. Mrs. Munson is the former Alice Meahan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Meahan of Grand Island. The baby's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Munson, also of Grand Island.

Has July Ceremony

MRS. DUANE HASSELBACK

Announcement of the marriage of Miss Joan Crosier to Duane Lee Hasselback, son of Mrs. Estella Hasselback of St. Edward, has been made by the bride's mother, Mrs. Gordon Crosier of Lincoln.

The ceremony was solemnized on Wednesday, July 2, at St. Paul Methodist church in Omaha in the presence of members of the family.

The bride chose for her wedding a frock of pale pink and white striped French silk shantung designed in the after-five mode. She wore a pink flowered hat and pink accessories, and carried a spray of orchids.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to Colorado, Mr. Hasselback, a former student of the University of Nebraska, and his bride will make their home in Omaha.

LWC Group Plans Picnic

Win Praises with This Cottage Cheese Fruit Salad Bowl

Recipe suggested by Mrs. Allison Ruby, Home economist.

By MARY MANNING
Here's a salad that is always a treat, but the secret of its success is a combination of fresh fruits with Cottage Cheese that is really fresh! So you will want to use FAIRMONT COTTAGE CHEESE when you make it. This Cottage Cheese is extra tasty... it's fresh and refreshing, with a zesty goodness all its own.

FRUIT SALAD RECIPE
Make this salad by placing a ring of pineapple in the center of one large lettuce leaf. Arrange around the pineapple, slices of peaches, pears, bananas, apricots, sections of orange, cherries, etc. Place a large serving of delicious FAIRMONT COTTAGE CHEESE, mixed with pecans on top of pineapple. Sprinkle with paprika. Serve with mayonnaise and crackers. Delicious!

You'll like FAIRMONT COTTAGE CHEESE for wonderful salads, sandwiches and desserts. It's never too moist, never too dry—but just right. And it's always so fresh. Get a package from your grocer. You'll love it.

Truman Holds Up Endorsement Of Gov. Stevenson

Convention Trip Delayed Till Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—A top confidant of President Truman said Wednesday night the President is withholding any official endorsement of Adlai Stevenson for the Democratic presidential nomination until he is sure the Illinois governor is the winner.

The informant declined to allow the use of his name, but said that the President is "absolutely opposed" to the nomination of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

This source said Truman is waiting for developments at the Chicago convention before making any open commitment.

Among other things, this Truman confidant, in close touch with the developments in Chicago, said the President doesn't want to "get out on a limb and have it saved out from under him."

Somewhat Disturbed

As this man sized up the situation, the President is somewhat disturbed by the lack of an outright commitment from Stevenson to accept nomination.

"The President was ready to go along with Vice President Barkley for the nomination," this Truman associate told a reporter. "But that limb was sawed out from under the President. That went flat. It ran into a bridge, particularly when the labor leaders refused to go along with Barkley."

Under the circumstances, this man continued, the President has been allowed to make a direct commitment to Stevenson without any assurances that he will accept nomination and reach an understanding with the administration.

Opposed To Kefauver

"The President doesn't want to go out on another limb," he said. "If Gov. Stevenson is right," the man continued, "it looks like his nomination is inevitable."

On one point he was emphatic, that the President is not disposed to support Kefauver. There have been reports from the beginning that Truman has looked with coolness on the Tennesseean's candidacy.

Truman put off until Friday his trip to Chicago to address the national convention.

The trip to Chicago had been tentatively set for Thursday, but as the Democratic delegates wrangled and fell behind schedule, the postponement was announced late Wednesday.

Truman will go by air. Takeoff time is 2 p.m. (CST). By that time the convention officials hope to have their nominee picked so that the President's speech Friday night can serve to introduce the new standard bearer to the convention.

In Chicago, Gov. Paul A. Dever of Massachusetts, temporary convention chairman, told newsmen the balloting may get underway Thursday afternoon.

Dever said the balloting could be finished Thursday night "if it looks at that time like only one ballot will be needed."

Schlaebitz Might Succeed Mathews

City Finance Director Theo Berg has announced he will recommend William A. Schlaebitz to the City Council as successor to P. H. Mathews, retired city tax commissioner.

Berg said he would make his recommendation Monday. The Council is expected to give its approval.

Schlaebitz has been deputy commissioner for the past year and with the treasury department 29 years.

His appointment is expected to be effective at once. The tax commissioner's salary is $4,400 a year. Present Commissioner P. H. Mathews closes his books to retire at the age of 80 after 32 years of service to the city. He will leave Friday with Mrs. Mathews for California, where they will attend a granddaughter's wedding Aug. 10.

City employees have presented Mathews with a traveling bag as a farewell gift.

Survey Of County's Welfare Activities Will Be Launched

A study to determine whether needs of indigents and other county patients are being adequately taken care of has been endorsed by Lancaster County Commissioners.

After a meeting with three of the eight members of the research committee of the Community Advisory Health Council, the Commissioners indicated they would favor such a study. It would be made with no particular objective, but would attempt to find whether there are gaps or overlappings in the county aid program.

Victor Sellers, a member of the committee, indicated that the group hopes to meet with a number of other organizations concerned with aid to the indigent. Costs involved would be slight, he said, because work would be on a volunteer basis. The study would take about a year, he said.

Other members of the committee were Lester A. Sanger, acting director of the City-County Health Department and Dr. John Steinman.

Commission Chairman Chauncey E. Barney said he believes the project would be helpful in determining whether agencies are involved are too divided, reaching

Crash Kills Lincolnites; Son Injured

Kremkes Victims On Vacation Trip

MARYSVILLE, Kan.—(Lincoln Star Special)—An 18-year-old Lincoln soldier, injured in an auto mishap which took the lives of his parents, was in satisfactory condition at a Marysville hospital Wednesday night.

Dead were Homer Kremke, 55, and his wife Hazel, 53. They lived at 3055 S in Lincoln.

Officers said the Kremkes had been at Ft. Riley, Kan., to get their son William, who had just finished basic training.

To Take Vacation

They were returning to Lincoln, from where the three were to leave on a vacation trip.

The son was driving when the car apparently went out of control and struck the concrete railing of a road culvert on Highway 77 south of here early Wednesday.

The parents were killed instantly.

William walked a quarter of a mile to a phone to call help. He was then taken to the hospital.

He is being treated for a broken collar bone and general body bruises.

Dairy Department Head

Mr. Kremke was superintendent of the powdered milk department of Roberts Dairy here.

Another son, Kenneth, of California, was flying home Wednesday.

Other survivors of Mrs. Kremke are her father, Hannibal Helvey of Lincoln; four sisters, Mrs. Lena Rohrbach and Mrs. Frank McKie, both of Lincoln, Mrs. Pauline Carpenter of Los Angeles and Mrs. Joe Brock of Silver Creek.

Mr. Kremke's survivors, besides his sons, include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Kremke of Jansen; two sisters, Helen and Mildred, both of Jansen, and a brother, Elmer of Jansen.

Mr. Kremke was a former member of the United Commercial Travelers Union and he and his wife attended Grace Methodist Church.

Nixon To Talk At State GOP Post Primary

Richard M. Nixon, nominee for vice-president, will be the keynote speaker at the Republican post-primary convention in Kearney, Sept. 8, David T. Martin, state chairman, announced.

Martin said the address would be delivered in Harmon Park which has outdoor loud-speaking equipment and seating capacity of several thousand persons. The meeting will be open to the public.

"It will take the complete cooperation of every segment of our Republican organization to gain a victory this fall," Martin said in making the announcement that Nebraska was selected out of the 500 invitations to speak that Nixon has received.

He said that Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield of the GOP National Committee has pledged fullest support to the party campaign in this state.

Martin praised the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket as being "outstanding" and urged party workers in the state to get behind it 100 per cent.

State Banks' Resources Hit New Records

BY ARCH DONOVAN (Star Staff Writer)

The fiscal year end report of 287 state chartered banks in Nebraska showed resources at an all time high for June 30, with an increase of $20,672,671 since 1951.

J. F. McLain, director of banking announced Wednesday.

"The greater portion of this increase was in loans and discounts," McLain said. "These grew from $116,752,775 on June 30, 1951, to $133,940,090 on June 30 this year, an increase of 14.7 per cent."

Government bonds showed a decline of $2,970,482 in the report, while municipalities gained approximately one-half of that amount. Deposits increased $17,157,910 during the year. There is one less state bank than a year ago.

Total resources of the state banks were $425,581,807 as compared with $404,909,136 a year ago and $444,228,796 on last Dec. 31. Total deposits were $392,552,245 as compared with $375,394,337 a year ago. Capital accounts increased over the year from $28,772,019 to $31,456,702.

Demand deposits increased $7,407,031 to $311,733,014 and time deposits $2,582,365 to $40,578,067.

Capital of the banks is $10,505,100 and surplus $12,170,892 with undivided profits of $7,464,902 and reserves of $1,315,807.

Loans of the banks are the highest in recent years, McLain pointed out. He said they had not reached the present figure since 1935.

McLain said that the increase in deposits was due to the fact that the banks had not reached the present figure since 1935.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT PLASTICS

Plastics of all kinds have completely changed today's interior decorating. It is now possible through the use of Vinyl to obtain color-fast bright floorcoverings in linoleum styles and in tile form with rubber and asbestos. Although generally advertised as requiring no wax it is best to keep a thin coat to assure a high gloss.

"Plastics" as a word is much mis-used in advertising. Generally speaking there are two floorcovering plastics—Vinyl and Koroseal—both tested and proven.

Styron is a plastic used almost exclusively for wall tiles which maintain color indefinitely and are inexpensive.

Then there are plastic—elastec resistant—stain proof—table top materials, Formica being the leader in the field followed by similar types and brands.

Don't overlook the use of Nylon, Viscase, Acetate, Fiber E, etc. used in the manufacture of carpeting. These have proven excellent in general application.

However!—Keep in mind the plastic industry is in its infancy. Many mistakes are made. To get into the act mills sometimes release goods which haven't been completely tested. Beware of Cheap Plastic! there just isn't any.

Our policy of "Hands Off" until the product is proven beyond any shadow of doubt has made us the leading plastic specialist in the Midwest.

CODE OF ETHICS

OF THE
National Association of Home Builders

Members of the National Association of Home Builders believe and affirm that:

Home ownership can and should be within reach of every American family. American homes should be well-designed, well-constructed and well-located in attractive communities, with educational, recreational, religious and shopping facilities accessible to all.

American homes should be built under the free American enterprise system. To achieve these goals, we pledge allegiance to the following principles and policies:

Our paramount responsibility is to our customers, our community and our country.

Honesty is our guiding business policy. High standards of health, safety and sanitation shall be built into every home.

The right to a fair return for goods and services shall be upheld and protected in our relations with labor and all other segments of the industry.

As members of a progressive industry, we encourage research to develop new materials, new building techniques, new building equipment and improved methods of home financing, to the end that every home purchaser may get the greatest value possible for every dollar.

All sound legislative proposals affecting our industry and the people we serve shall have our informed and vigorous support.

We hold inviolate the free enterprise system and the American Way of Life. We pledge our support to our associates, our local, state and national associations and all related industries concerned with the preservation of legitimate rights and freedoms.

We assume these responsibilities freely and solemnly, mindful that they are part of our obligation as members of the National Association of Home Builders.

ARE YOU BUILDING? WHY HIRE A CONTRACTOR?

There have been many tragic cases resulting from inexperienced but zealous persons attempting to construct their own homes or act as their own general contractor. Most are under the impression that thousands of dollars can be saved in owner-built homes.

Unless a person is mechanically skilled in all the intricate phases of home construction, and such persons are rare outside the building field, an owner-built, or owner-contracted home will generally cost more, not less, than those erected by regular building firms.

Ambitious amateurs should remember two fundamental points: (1) a good building superintendent is worth his fee, and (2) few laymen are qualified to supervise the intricate art of building.

The general contractor, or project builder, frequently does no actual manual work on the job. He isn't even always there. He usually sub-contracts plumbing, heating and electrical work, perhaps other parts of the job, too.

For that reason, some people feel that they must be paying a lot of "overhead"; that they might cut costs by eliminating the general contractor. That conclusion is not necessarily justified.

Let's suppose, for a moment, that you decide to go ahead and be your own contractor. Chances are that the total of sub-contractors' bids you would receive would exceed the general contractor's bid to you, or the price charged for the home by a project builder.

"How is this possible?" you ask. "What of his own time, overhead and anticipated profit?" The answer is simple.

The scheduling of the various functions of a building job is very important.

Operations of plumbers, electricians, and plasterers must dovetail with those of carpenters—and with one another. Delays caused by a sub-contractor's workmen by other crews over whom he has no control can be very costly to him. The general contractor, or project builder, knows how to schedule the work to get the minimum of interference and delay.

Usually an established contractor has a set of sub-contractors who work with and for him on many jobs. They know from past experience that the work will be efficiently scheduled and that they are taking no chances in shading their bids to the bone.

You, however, are an unknown quantity to the sub-contractors. They would undoubtedly include a substantial allowance for contingency in their bids to you.

Yours is a one-time job. But to a merchant builder it is his bread and butter. He may even advance money for materials to trusted sub-contractors. You could hardly afford to take such risks.

The merchant builder has equipment that would not be feasible or economical for you to purchase for a single job. He has power saws, drills, and automatic tools that are labor-savers. He undoubtedly will use a power shovel or bulldozer for excavation and grading. He has wiring and lights to speed work on dull days and in dark places.

You, as your own general contractor, would have to locate and hire all these, and any other special equipment needed.

Your merchant builder finances his jobs by advancing money to workmen and sub-contractors. He has the knowledge and experience to check the work of his sub-contractors.

Under his agreement to his clients, he is responsible for the quality of all work. If a sub-contractor falls down, it is the general contractor's responsibility to remedy the defective work, either by requiring the sub-contractor to do it or by replacing it himself.

If you are your own general contractor, any failure on the part of an irresponsible sub-contractor is an added expense to you.

Certainly, unless unusually fitted and qualified, you take a greater risk by sub-contracting your work than by buying a completed house in a project or by entering into an agreement to have a home custom-built to your specifications by a qualified contractor.

If you decide to buy a completed home, or to have a home built to your specifications, remember that the selection of a builder is an important step in the process of becoming a home owner. Take the time to find a man or firm with a sound reputation.

With the right builder your headaches are at a minimum. Everything will move smoothly till the happy day when you are handed the keys to your new home.

Ask a member of the National Association of Home Builders, which has 25,000 members in 183 local affiliates, they adhere to a strongly worded Code of Ethics which assures the public of high standards.

Also glacial acetic acid.	See Cotton, Wool, and Acetate.	See Wool. Nylon generally resists, but soluble in some solvents.	See Wool. Vinyon generally resists, but soluble in some solvents.

This chart tells you which Carpet wears the longest, fades the least, etc. Notice, cotton wears longer than wool, but has a very low crush resistance. Wool is adaptable to more styling and textures—color is brighter in cotton—whereas household solvents etc. effect wool less. To my mind, cotton is ideal for halls, entries, bedrooms and in some cases living rooms. However, around food in dining rooms and living-dining combinations either wool or a combination of wool and plasticized fibers is most adaptable. I'm A Carpet Man;
Not Santa Claus.

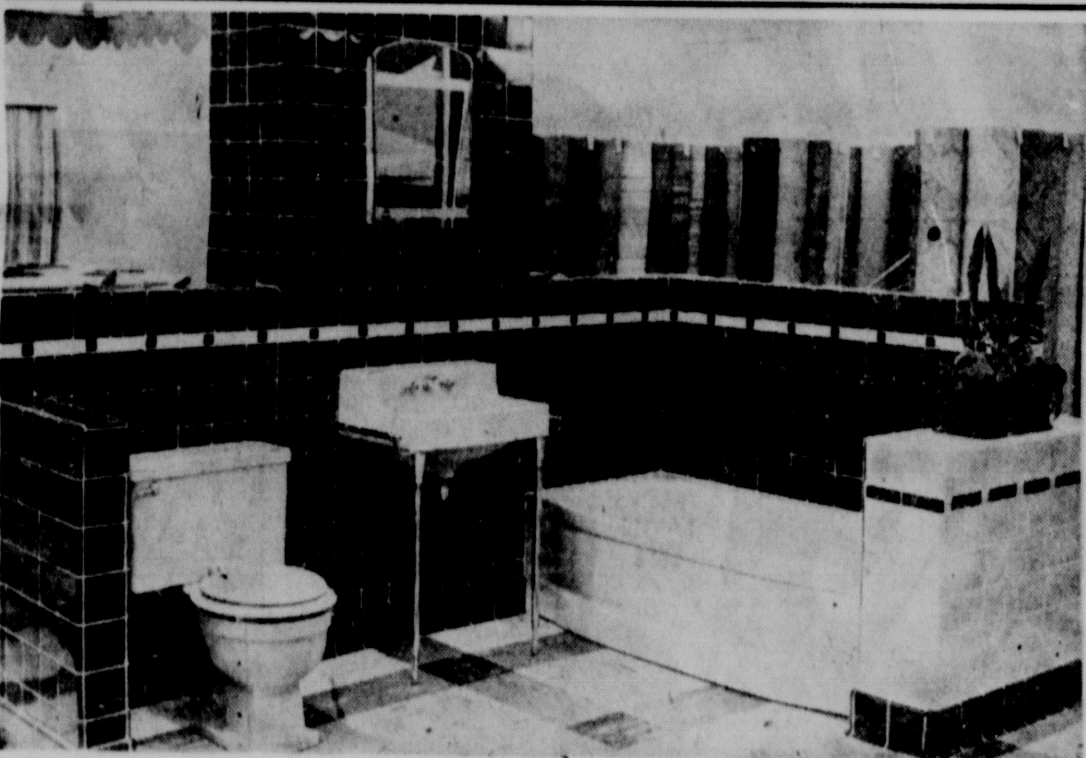

I know Carpets and the Carpet Business, and it's no use blaming any single factor in the carpet industry. Advertising measures that took place in the past 15 months; Manufacturers contributed by liquidating drop patterns; Over-bought retailers started their famous fifty and sixty per cent off advertising, and frankly there just isn't and never has been and never will be that much profit in carpets.

These forces apparently have run their course—it doesn't pay to try to pull the wool, even carpet wool—over the customers' eyes. Carpet wools reached bottom a month ago and since that time have turned up slightly in price. The industry for all practical purposes has wiped out the entire Korean inflationary bulge.

As of this date we are entering an area where wool and blended carpets are priced at real value levels, and once again we can assume our rightful position of selling beautifully styled carpets to the many American homes that need them. The carpet industry is producing the widest range of fibres, fabrics, colors, weaves and patterns in its history. There is a carpet for every purpose. Values offered consumers based on cost of living indexes make carpets one of the best dollar investments today.

P. S. We NEED used Carpets!

BOBBY SHANTZ NIGHT—Staffer Bryant and equipment.

'Bobby Shantz Night' Always A Big One For Star Sports Staff

By DON BRYANT
(Star Sports Staff Member)
ONE night a week—sometimes often— the Star's sports staff fortifies itself with several cups of coffee, sets the Western Union ticker in a handy place takes a collective deep breath and camps by a pair of telephones.
It's the crucial night of the week—Lincoln's adopted and by far its most popular son, Bobby Shantz, is pitching.
Usually two or three impatient fans call up in a frantic effort to discover how young Robert is faring before the game actually starts.
But the steady deluge can be expected to gain momentum— a tum about the third inning.
A sample of the queries include:
"What's the score?" "Who won?" "How's Bob doing?" "Is Shantz pitching?" "Did Philadelphia win?"
And so on into the night.
One staffer—after repeating the shy Dutchman's most recent 3-2 winning score about 20 times—almost gave one fan heart failure when he gave the losing St. Louis Browns' score first.
Shouts of cheer and sighs of relief follow most reports of a Shantz victory and since we've only had to report three losses, those reactions haven't been ingrained in our minds.

League Leaders Lose Senators Win 16-Inning Tilt From Tigers

From Press Dispatches
A tightening of the American and National League pennant races was the result of Wednesday's major league action.
With only St. Louis and New York in the National not scheduled, seven games provided fans with more than the usual quota of baseball thrills.
Top attraction of the day was the Washington Senators' 16-inning win over the Detroit Tigers by a 5-2 score.
Along with Washington, two other junior circuit first-divisions clubs advanced in the standings as leading New York bowed to Cleveland by a 7-3 margin.
Cleveland moved up by virtue of their own win over the Yanks, and the Boston Red Sox dropped the White Sox, 10-4. In another Harriette League game, Philadelphia handed the St. Louis Browns their seventh straight loss, 3-2.
Over in the National, pace-setting Brooklyn took a 6-4 setback from Cincinnati. The Chicago Cubs halted Boston, 6-2, and Philadelphia beat tail-end Pittsburgh, 4-1.
The Washington Senators pushed across three runs in the top of the 16th inning to beat Detroit, 5-2. Frank Shea pitched 14 innings for the Nats, but the winner was Reliever Sandolo Consuegra.
Shea had held the Tigers to three hits and one unearned run in eight frames, when Cliff Mape hit a ninth-inning homer to tie the score.
A walk, and singles by Jackie Jensen, Pete Runnels and Mickey Vernon accounted for the winning Washington tallies.
In another afternoon encounter, the Boston Red Sox exploded for seven runs in the ninth inning to beat Chicago, 10-4, at Comiskey Park.

On Fishing Pox And Other Items

SATCHEL PAIGE, grand old man of the St. Louis Browns, is getting all of the comforts of senility these days.
When the current season started, Boss Bill Veeck of the Browns issued the 51-year-old relief chucker a pair of sliding pads. Not that Satch intended doing any base running—the pads were to make him more comfortable while he sat away the long afternoons and evenings in the bullpen.
This antique disciple of the "hesitation pitch" discarded the pads when Veeck recently came up with an easy chair for him. It must be quite a sight at that, Ol' Satch lounging in an easy chair, big cigar in hand, as he awaits some fellow moundsmen to be shelled out.
In all of the comments on the Veeck firing of Hornsby, we've been surprised that the national wisecracks missed the best of all. As you recall, the players at the time presented Veeck with a trophy, inscribed "The Greatest Play Since The Emancipation Proclamation."
Hornsby's answer was that Veeck bought the cup himself.
The logical crack would seem to have been that Veeck would have had to buy the cup for one simple reason—none of the players except Satchel Paige would know what the Emancipation Proclamation is.
P.S.—Satch would know because he was there.

ROY Weiss gives The Firing Line this warning against "Fishing Pox". Very contagious to adult males. Symptoms—Continual complaints as to need for fresh air, sunshine and relaxation. Patient has blank expression, sometimes deaf to wife and kids. Has no taste for work of any kind. Frequent checking of tackle catalogues. Hangs out in sporting goods stores longer than usual. Secret night phone calls to fishing pals. Mumbles to self, "Lies to everyone. No known cure. Treatment—Medication is useless. Disease is not fatal. Victim should go fishing as often as possible at any pond, lake or stream."

THE Philly A's cut of a recent night game with 13,839 on hand was less than $5,000. . . . Pete Janetos, Husker assistant coach, took off Wednesday on a 1,600 mile trip to his home in New Hampshire. . . . Enroute he will watch Fran Nagle, the ex-Husker quarterback star, work out with the Montreal Alouettes of the Canadian Pro League. . . . Pete will swing through Pennsylvania on the way back to pick up George Cifra, the Huskers' hard-tackling linebacker.

To those who think the Chicago Bears are fading—over 32 years, the Monsters of the Midway have won 403 games while losing 107. . . . That's a batting average of .791. . . . Main complaint of Denver players on their new "strike zone" uniforms is the heavier flannel used on the shoulder and knee sections, which are of darker color to show the strike zone. . . . The suits are comfortable enough in the cool confines of the Denver park, but out in the blast-furnace weather of the eastern portion of the league—my, oh, my!

DON Cooper, the Husker vaulter of 15 foot fame, was a Firing Line visitor Wednesday. . . . Victim of a sprained ankle on eve of the Olympic tryouts, Cooper nevertheless vaulted 14 feet 1 1/2 inches to barely miss qualifying. . . . He cleared 14-6 and the bar stayed on, only to drop off after Cooper had hit the pit. . . . If the bar would have stayed, the York lad would have made the trip to Helsinki. . . . Cooper was treated by two doctors with prominent sports names. . . . One was Dr. Danny Fortman, long-time star of the Chicago Bears. . . . The other was Dr. W. L. McCall, who is the father of Bill, the All-America Stanford end. . . . Cooper was also prominent on the Bob Hope-Bing Crosby television show to raise Olympic funds. . . . The former Husker star, now 26, was a guest at the home of Bob Mathias, the famed decathlon champion, in Tulare, Cal. . . . Cooper intends to give up his vaulting career and enter the coaching realm. . . . At that, Cooper leaves a powerful mark for future collegians—that being his American Collegiate mark of 15 feet 1/2 inch. He also holds the world's indoor mark from a dirt runway at 14 feet 9 3/4 inches.

Iowa State's Smith Is Sole Olympic Mat Winner For U.S.

HELSINKI (AP)—The United States was forced to settle for one Olympic free style wrestling gold medal Wednesday night as Russia, Turkey and Sweden each carried off two titles and Japan won the other.
The lone American grappler to carry away a gold medal was Bill Smith of Council Bluffs, Ia., and he was so surprised he started to step on the third place winner's stand when the honors were handed out for the welterweights.
The United States' lone defending champion, Henry Wittenberg, finished second in the light heavyweight division. The New York policeman won in the 1948 games at London.
There was a brief minute or two when Wittenberg—who wasn't even on the mat at the time—looked like he had a chance of also winning.
Under the complex scoring system in use in the 236 matches, the result of the bout between Wiking Palm of Sweden and Adil Atan of Turkey determined Wittenberg's placing.
If Palm lost, Wittenberg would get the gold medal. But the Swedish grappler held off a furious attack from Atan in the final minutes of the bout and won. This put Wittenberg second with Atan third.
The Soviet showed up at its first Olympic games with good big men. David Glimakuridze took the middleweight championship without much trouble and Arsen Mekokishvili annexed the heavyweight crown.
Besides Palm's win in the light heavyweight division, fast and aggressive Olle Anderberg handily picked up the lightweight gold medal for Sweden. Tom Evans of Norman, Okla., lost to Anderberg and received the silver medal for second place.
Josiah Henson, a Tulsa, Okla., boy representing the Navy Olympic squad, lost a tough scramble to Nasser Givetchi of Iran for second honors in the featherweight division and took third place. Earlier in the final round, Henson was pinned in 9:20 by Sit.
Shohachi Ishii won Japan's title, taking the bantamweight crown from Rashid Mamedbekov of Russia by a unanimous decision.

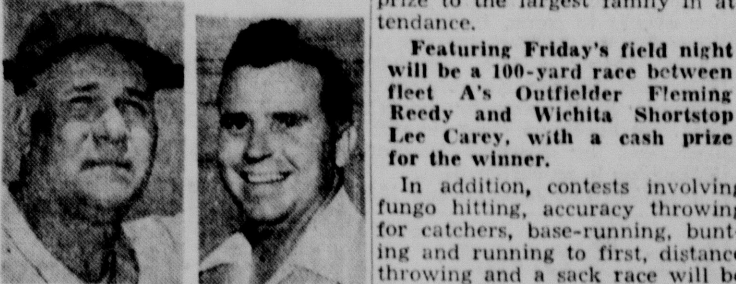

Pen Pirates Paste Gas Co.

The State Penitentiary Pirates softball team made it 8 in a row in an undefeated season. The Gas Company of Lincoln was the victim as the Pen team won 7 to 3. Jones, with 3 hits in 4 times at bat and Hart with 2 for 3 were the big guns for the Penitentiary team, while Young with 2 for 3 was the heavy for the Gas Company.

Requests For Deer Permits Increased

The lull appears to be over as far as deer applications are concerned, as the number of such applications received last week at the Game Commission office doubled the previous total.
Applicants for buck permits pulled away from those applying for doe permits. A total of 106 have applied for special permits to shoot bucks while 69 have applied to hunt does. The number of applications is expected to accelerate immediately. The long period granted sportsmen to submit applications accounted for the temporary lull.

NWU To Compete In Enid Festival

The Nebraska Wesleyan university basketball team will compete in the annual college invitational tournament at Enid, Okla., Dec. 29-31.

Finns Surprised In Javelin

Olympic Records Still Falling At Helsinki

By MARVIN STONE

HELSINKI (INS) — America held record on record and point on point Wednesday in the greatest track-and-field runway in the history of the Olympics, and U.S. oarsmen swelled the surge that menaced Russia's overall point lead.

Andy Stanfield of Jersey City, N. J., tied a record as he led a blazing one-two-three U.S. finish in the 200-meter dash. Cy Young of Los Angeles broke a record as he capped an amazing one-two finish for Uncle Sam in the javelin throw, an event the U.S. never won before. Mighty Navy stroked to victory over Russia in the eight-oared rowing showdown.

Five more Olympic records and another world record tumbled in the superlative track and field competition. Fourteen Olympic marks have been bettered in four days, some of them repeatedly. The U.S. has shattered nine of the 14 and tied two more. We have grabbed off 10 gold medals in the 14 track and field events so far. In 1948 we won 11 all told.

But Russia, carefully working on a terrific base of 91 points gained in the men's gymnastic competition, led in overall points by 100 to Uncle Sam's 176. Nobody else was within 100 points of the leaders. Switzerland had 59, France 30, Czechoslovakia 27, Australia and Japan 26 each, Finland 24, Great Britain 23, Sweden and Italy 21 each, and Germany 20.

Yet there was added promise for events to come. In qualifications for the 3,000-meter steeplechase, hardly a U.S. specialty, FBI man, Horace Ashenfelter of Newark, N. J., won his heat in 8:51. He broke an Olympic mark newly-set by Russia's Vladimir Kazantsev in an earlier heat.

Stanfield tied Jesse Owens' 1936

Olympic record of :27.7 in the 200 as he rocketed across the finish line barely ahead of Thane Baker of Kansas State College and Jim Gathers of New York. The three Americans got a tremendous ovation from the great 65,000 crowd that sat through football weather to watch the records fall. The sportsmanlike Finns brought their cheers to a new crescendo for the two Americans—Young and the Navy's Bill Miller—who finished one-two in that Finnish special, the javelin throw.

Young, a former UCLA star, who was 24-years-old Wednesday, threw the spear 242 feet 3 3/4 inches for his new Olympic mark. Pearly-toothed Adhemar Ferreira Da Silva of Brazil brought a tremendous roar from the stands as

Gals Shatter Records, Title Holder Happy

HELSINKI (AP) — A woman and weary Fanny Blankers-Koen went into eclipse Wednesday as the world's fastest woman—and didn't seem to mind a bit.

Still dizzy from penicillin shots, the housewife heroine of the 1948 Olympic Games smiled weakly and told a reporter she thinks it's a "good thing" her world and Olympic marks are being broken. "Records are made to be broken," said the 34-year-old Dutchwoman. "It doesn't worry me at all."

An hour earlier, the Dutch mother of two watched from the sidelines as a younger generation stamped her world and Olympic records for the 80-meter hurdles into the red clay track at Helsinki Stadium.

In one semi-final, Australia's sensational Shirley Stickland, a slender, attractive blond, breezed home in 10.8 seconds for a new world mark. Runners-up Maria Sander of Germany and Britain's Jean Desforges, clocked in 10.9, also broke Fanny's old mark of 11 seconds.

In the other semi-final, Mrs. Blankers-Koen was second to Russia's Marija Golubichnaja, whose time of 11.2 equalled Fanny's Olympic mark. Fanny was timed Wednesday in 11.3.

Later the still-smiling Fanny went to her hotel for medical treatment. Since Monday she has been taking penicillin injections for an attack of carbuncles on her back.

War Hero Pulls Swift Egypt Coup

Takes Over Army; Forces Premier Shift

CAIRO, Egypt (AP)—A thrice-wounded war hero, avowed foe of corruption in the government and armed forces, seized control of the Army in a lightning coup Wednesday and forced a man of his choice into the premiership.

While most of Cairo slept, Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib proclaimed himself Army commander-in-chief and surrounded the royal palace and government buildings with tanks and armored cars. Twenty high ranking officers were arrested.

Hours later, Premier Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha and his cabinet resigned. They had taken office only Tuesday, forming the fifth government to serve since anti-British mobs swept Cairo in disastrous riots last January.

Naguib demanded that former Premier Ali Maher Pasha take the premiership again. Soon after, King Farouk I asked Maher Pasha to try to form a government.

In nationwide broadcast, Naguib said corruption and bribery were "the main reason for our failure in the Palestine war; they are the main reason for troubles in Egypt's political and economic life."

John, the son of Mrs. Agnes Barker, and a playmate were playing with an old motor and a jar of gasoline. John was injured when he spilled some of the gas on the ground and lit a match to it.

Hog Serum Shortage Could Be Serious In Epidemic—Anderson

By ARCH DONOVAN (Star Staff Writer)

The outbreak of vesicular exanthema in swine is bringing a distinct threat to hog raisers in case of a cholera outbreak, Dr. E. P. Anderson, state veterinarian warned.

It was pointed out by Dr. Anderson that of 29 large serum plants, 8 have killed all their serum hogs and are not in production, 8 including two in Nebraska are under quarantine and three can only operate at half of their production capacity due to lack of serum hogs.

"Hog cholera serum and virus are expected to establish similar controls if federal action is not taken."

Dr. Anderson said that by permitting swine shows in California in 1948, the state had the most widespread outbreak of vesicular exanthema in its history.

Federal regulations are expected to follow a meeting in Chicago Wednesday of federal bureau of animal industry officials with officials of the packing industry to provide for uniform processing so that all quarantined animals can be sent for slaughter to permit cleaning and disinfecting all hog lots and stamp out the disease.

Because of immunities built up through garbage feeding, serum plants have in the past purchased virus hogs from that source and since discontinuance of the practice virus hogs have been scarce, the state veterinarian explained.

Delay by the federal department of agriculture in issuing uniform regulations to halt spread of vesicular exanthema, may force Nebraska to issue a directive prohibiting railroads from unloading shipments of hogs in Nebraska lots for feed and rest, Dr. Anderson said in commenting on a similar regulation that he was informed Missouri planned to put into effect Thursday.

Dr. Anderson said that investigations made on 500 Nebraska farms made almost certain that some of the hogs quarantined in western states contracted the disease in railroad cars which had not been cleaned and disinfected before loading.

Missouri sanitary officials notified Dr. Anderson by phone late Wednesday that they are issuing directives halting shipment of hogs except for immediate slaughter. Kansas officials said they would cooperate with controls identical with Missouri and Nebraska.

Such action would halt swine displays at fairs and Iowa officials

Tractor-Testing Course Draws 125

About 125 Nebraska implement dealers attended a one day tractor-testing course at the College of Agriculture Wednesday.

The program, arranged by the Agricultural Engineering department, was designed to give the latest information on tractor maintenance.

During the morning program, they saw how tractor tests are made, including the way the tractors and the course are prepared.

Hugh Cargo of the Nebraska State Railway Commission explained "What the Permit to Sell Tractors Includes."

During the afternoon program, the dealers were told about the 4-H tractor maintenance program by Jim Patterson of the Standard Oil Company. A 4-H demonstration team from Douglas County gave a demonstration on tractor maintenance.

Different fuels were compared for the dealers.

The program concluded with a safety demonstration, in which a tractor was upset due to an improper hitch.

City Property Valuation Boosted To $150 Million

The assessed valuation of city property for taxation purposes has gone up from $144,297,610 this year to $150,804,316 for the coming fiscal year—permitting a 1.449 mill levy increase under the taxation limit.

The tax levy limit is fixed at the figure produced by a levy of 9.75 mills on the total county valuation of city property. For this year, that valuation is $187,173,961 as compared to $184,136,235 for the current fiscal year.

The total county valuation would, therefore, permit the city to levy a tax which would produce an amount not to exceed $1,642,451, based on the 90 per cent collection basis on which the city's budget is set up.

It is unlikely, however, that the total limit will be levied. Last year, the Council could have levied enough to produce $1,615,795 but went to only $1,385,222.

All the above figures are for general operating purposes. For payment of bonds, interest, judgments, auditorium funds and social security, the city can levy whatever amount necessary above the general operation levy.

City Finance Director Theo Berg has stated it is unknown at this time what the levy will be for other than general operation. It could change, he said, if the $1,500,000 in authorized auditorium bonds were issued. If issued, he said, a $100,000 payment for interest and principle would have to be paid on them next year.

The largest increase in city valuations is found in real estate which went up in value from $95,522,315 in the 1951-52 fiscal year to $101,912,385 for the coming year. Personal property valuations for the coming year are $46,016,931 as compared to $45,780,875 for the current year. Railroad valuation estimates for next year are $2,875,000 as compared to $2,994,420 this year.

Guarantee Mutual Life's Pension Plan Is Attacked In New Suit By Max Kier

Lincoln Attorney Max Kier has filed a suit in Lancaster District Court against the Guarantee Mutual Life Company of Omaha, charging that a retirement plan set up for officers is illegal.

Kier, who said he filed suit as a policy holder in the company, said that 12 to 15 officers, plus others who have retired under the plan, would be affected by the suit.

Last week, the Nebraska Supreme Court held that part of Bankers Life Insurance Company plan relating to officers of the company was invalid because officers are not employees under existing provisions of state law.

Kier was also one of the lawyers for policy holders in the Bankers life suit.

The existing retirement plan for Guarantee Mutual officers was established in 1950, Kier said, but other plans had been in effect before that time. The petition charged that more than $100,000 has been paid to Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, a co-defendant, for a reserve from which officers' retirement benefits would be paid. Also co-defendants are the president, secretary and treasurer of Guarantee Mutual.

The petition asks that:

1. The retirement plan, as to its including officers, be adjudged invalid;
2. An accounting be made of funds paid from the firm's assets for the benefit of the officers;
3. The officers be ordered to return any money they received

CIO's Murray Sends Barkley Warm Telegram

Labor Chief Lauds Veep Public Work

CHICAGO (INS) — CIO President Philip Murray Wednesday night dramatically aligned himself against the labor leaders who forced Vice President Barkley's withdrawal from the Democratic presidential race because he was "too old."

Murray made public an extraordinary telegram to the 74-year-old "veep" in which the CIO chief declared: "Our fight has always been your fight, you have always been ready to listen to our problems."

Like the famed wartime message from the late President Roosevelt to Barkley, Murray's telegram began with the salutation, "Dear Alben." It said:

"I am writing you because in the heat and turmoil of current political developments events have transpired which are being used to divide us."

Murray referred to the contention of George Harrison, AFL vice president, and Jack Kroll, CIO official, that at 74 Barkley, despite his long record of support for legislation favorable to organized labor, was "too old" for the White House.

The Murray message continued: "You and I for a lifetime have stood together for the things in which we believe, each in our chosen field of endeavor. I will be satisfied if in my life as a representative of working people I attain a measure of their esteem and affection that you have gained through your magnificent efforts on their behalf in the halls of Congress and as vice president."

"Our fight has always been your fight. You have always been ready to listen to our problems, to assist us in winning economic justice, and your great heart has always been filled with sympathy and concern for all Americans of all stations..."

Children Taken From Mother For Untidiness

The four children of the young mother whose four-months-old son was found, soaking wet, in a bathtub last May 26, have been taken from her until she demonstrates she can keep her home clean, according to an order by Juvenile Judge Harry A. Spencer.

The judge ordered the children, including the baby, placed in custody of the child welfare department, which will in turn place the children in a boarding home until the mother's home is considered a fit place to live.

Policewoman Hulda Stahnke Roper discovered the child lying in a dirty, wet bathtub last May, and told the judge that the child had apparently been lying there, without change of diapers, for some time. The child was suffering from a bad skin rash, and was taken to the hospital. He was recently released.

Surroundings Dirty

Mrs. Roper said surroundings in the home were quite dirty at the time. Welfare workers said there had been some improvement in cleanliness in the home immediately after authorities intervened, but that the place was becoming dirtier again.

The mother said she had been having some medical work done, and had been unable to keep up the home, in addition to caring for the children. Workers reported the children adequately fed, but poorly groomed.

The mother said her husband, from whom she had been divorced about a year, has paid her practically no child support.

Mother Wept

The mother wept as she asked Judge Spencer to let her keep her children, but he told her she must maintain a fit place for the children to live before he would consent to their return.

"You've had your chance," he told her. "I'm doing this for the benefit of your children."

'Need Adlai Badly, And Estes Bestest'

Stevenson for President, Kefauver for vice president.

That's the flat prediction of a Lincolnite, Edward A. Dosek, who just returned from the Democratic Convention at Chicago.

Dosek told The Star that the combination is "really talked of by those in the know," including native Nebraska Pollster Elmo Roper.

Even a jingle has been prepared, according to Dosek. It goes:

"We want Adlai because we need him badly; We want Estes because he's the best-est."

Head Tax Doesn't Go To Old Age Pensions

The two-dollar head tax is not for old-age pensions, Chairman Mary Prince of the State Board of Control has written Nebraska county treasurers.

She asked the treasurers to remove the words "old age pensions" from forms and replace them with "assistance." State assistance is not a pension, she said, and is used to supplement resources of persons who are eligible for or to provide help for persons without resources.

In Lancaster County, County Treasurer C. E. Berg said that it is too late this year to change the wording on county forms, since the notations on receipts and permanent records have already been printed. The change will be made next year, he said.
